NEXT Architecture teamed up with Seubert to design a dynamic, modern workspace that captures the company's identity as a leading insurance organization. Drawing inspiration from Seubert's bold branding and iconic 'road' logo, the team introduced sweeping curves and rounded lighting for a space that feels unified and unmistakably Seubert.

Design 406 by prolific sculptor Erwin Hauer in white MDF serves as a striking backdrop at the company's entrance. The cascading curves mirror the brand's aesthetic with a timeless and sophisticated statement and set a neutral background for the company's colorful logo. In an adjoining conference space, curves come in the form of Rain by FilzFelt. A sunny pop of color in 509 Kamel, combined with the natural texture of wool felt and flowy, on-edge detailing, offers a warm welcome to staff while helping to turn the volume down in a space where larger groups gather.
